Seeking Postdocs to Participate in Mentoring Study - earn $20 for 90 minutes

The Enhancing Connections and Health in Organizations (ECHO) research lab at UGA (directed by Dr. Lillian Eby) is seeking postdocs to participate in a study on mentoring undergraduates. This study involves completing online surveys and interacting with an undergraduate student in our laboratory in the Psychology Building. Your physiological responses (heart rate and skin conductance) will be measured using a wristwatch during the course of your participation. You will receive $20 if you participate in this study, and help science as well!

If you are interested in participating, please click the link to the consent form and baseline survey below:
